SIGN ARMISTICE THIS AFTERNOON

European Press Predict
Settlement and Portray
Desire to End War

TERMS NOT ANNOUNCED

That Armies Before Constantinople are Dead Locked is Strong Force For Peace

HOPE FOR PERMANENT PEACE

LONDON, NOV. 30.—The second month of the shortest great European war in history closes under brighter auspices than the statesmen who have been banding the tangled skein of conflicting national interests dared to predict. An armistice will be signed Sunday afternoon by the delegates of the belligerent states.

The hope that permanent peace will follow on terms which will avoid a clash with Austria is strong in all the capitals and assuming the strength of conviction.

From Constantinople, Sofia and Belgrade the press agencies which speak with the voices of their governments, predict a settlement and portray a general desire to end the war. The terms of the armistice have not yet been announced. Chief interests centers in Adrianople where the Turkish garrison, with diminishing ammunition and short rations, still makes historic resistance against the Servians and Bulgars with their cordon of artillery steadily crowding closer around the citadel.

The project for establishing a diplomatic clearing house composed of the ambassadors of the powers in some capital to exchange views on the Balkan question during the period of upheaval, gains strength. The Pall Mall Gazette predicts that it will be arranged within two days. While Turkey and the Balkans may arrange a treaty of peace by direct negotiations they can hardly do this without constant consultation with the powers.

A conference of Albanian politicians at Avlona has launched a provisional government with Ismail Kemal Bey, a Mussulman, as president and a Catholic vice president. The Albanian flag has been raised and Albania has been proclaimed a neutral state under the protection of powers. The new government has advised the people of Durazzo and Elbasana not to oppose the Servians.

This autonomous Albania is in extremely nebulous state since Albania is without definite geographical boundaries and almost without roads and the people heretofore have fostered a deep-rooted prejudice against paying taxes to any government. The final settlement of their future problem is second only to that of reconciling Servia and Austria over Servia's determination to retain a port on the Adriatic.

While the danger that the belligerents may fail to settle their difficulties and hostilities may be resumed after the period of negotiations looms large, the fact that the armies before Constantinople have practically reached a deadlock is the strongest force making for peace. Military experts consider that it would be almost impossible for the allies to break the Tchatalja woods, while it would be equally impossible for the Turks to succeed in an offensive movement.

Bulgaria has come to the end of her resources in war and has called out the drafts of 1913 and 1914 who are youths of 16 and 17 years while one army corps in front of Adrianople consists of old men.

The threat that Great Britain may be involved in the death struggle for European supremacy and the object lesson of great armies quickly mobilized by small states have given great impetus to the movement for compulsory military services. Several conservative leaders have been agitating this for the last year.

Field Marshall Lord Roberts has become the storm center of a bitter controversy. In a speech early in the week he declared that the territorial force which in England is the second line of defense was a total failure that it was more than 30,000 short of its nominal strength and was largely composed of youths. He invited the officers to admit that it does not satisfy the country's vital needs.

Vizcount Valdane, the former secretary of war who is the father of the scheme replied that Lord Roberts was a great soldier but failed to grasp the problems of statesmanship involved.

The Liberal party generally opposes increased military expenditures. The report that the Indian princes are making a great naval contribution of dreadnaughts and cruisers has not been confirmed. The project apparently is only under discussion.

The conservative press hails with salvoes of praise, while the liberal press shows lukewarmness particularly if it should involve increased taxation to the Indians.

CARNEIGE EULOGIZES AMBASSADOR BRYCE

URGES READING OF BRYCE'S WRITING ON SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS

Says These Reveal the Fact That the Monroe Doctrine Has Accomplished its Purpose—Resignation is Cause of "Universal Regret."

NEW YORK, NOV. 30.—Referring to James Bryce, retiring British ambassador, as "an international asset whose position towards both England and United States, 'justifies him in tendering advice to both'" Andrew Carnegie in a speech before the St. Andrews society of New York state tonight urged widespread reading of Ambassador Bryce's writings on the South American Republics. These revealed the fact that the celebrated Monroe doctrine has accomplished its mission, declared Mr. Carnegie.

"With sixty millions of peoples the South American republics proclaim themselves quite able to prevent European powers from acquiring territory upon their part of the hemisphere."

"This releases our republic from a serious responsibility," Mr. Carnegie added, "and should silence our belligerent advocates for increasing expenditure upon our naval and military forces, both of which are today more than ample to meet any foes."

Mr. Carnegie said there is "universal regret" because of Mr. Bryce's decision to resign.

"Such a man as he may be called to high public service again," he said.

MURPHY SPRINGS STORY OF FIELDER JONES GOING TO REDS

Says Chance is to go to American League in Deal—Herrmann Labels
Story "One of Murphy's Jokes."

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Fielder Jones, former manager of the Chicago American league team, as next season's leader of the Cincinnati team, was a story brought back from New York today by President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals. According to a story told by Murphy, Frank Chance, now of Cincinnati, was to go to the American league in a deal which would bring Jones to the National league.

Herrmann Says It's a Joke.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 30.—"When Murphy speaks of Fielder Jones as manager of the Cincinnati club he is evidently joking. I certainly know of no deal for him and Jones has never entered my mind as manager of the Cincinnati team. Furthermore that he will not be Cincinnati's manager next year. This must be one of Murphy's jokes."

So said President August Herrmann of the local National league team when he heard the report that Jones was to figure in a trade whereby he would become a National league manager.

DEAD WEEKS BEFORE FOUND.

Langdon, N. D., Nov. 30.—John Haines of Kashy, N. D., was found dead by his brother yesterday when he called at the Haines ranch. The deceased lived alone and had been seen the latter part of October. His brother went to the ranch for a visit and not getting a response broke open the door. The dead man sat in a chair fully clothed. The corner today decided Haines had been dead two or three weeks. Two horses in the barn had starved to death and other livestock on the ranch were dead or dying. There was on evidence of foul play and in the man's pockets was over $4,000 in currency.

DISLIKE GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE IN MINES.

Bishop, Cal., Nov. 30.—A hundred miners and prospectors banded together in the Prospectors' Alliance of America, forwarded to the governors of eleven western states today a memorial asking their assistance in combating "government bureaucratic interference with mining operations." For xslal.dorsvlgkqjxifflf 1/4 1/4

The alliance in addition to drafting a memorial which was forwarded to the governors, adopted resolutions pledging its members to deny information to federal officers and to prevent any such government officials from entering or investigating any mining property belonging to members of the organization.

ENDORSES AEROPLANE.

Boston, Nov. 30.—"The safest and easiest way to reach the North Pole and an entirely feasible way, is by aeroplane," said Captain Robert A. Bartlett of the Peary North Pole party to the members of the Aero club of New England at its annual dinner tonight. Captain Bartlett said an aeroplane could be taken by land to Cape Morris K. Jessup, which is the latest machine this would mean but four hours flight to the pole. With the ice would furnish suitable landing places all along the route, but all necessary supplies would have to be carried for the trip to and from the pole.

SOCIALIST FILES COMTEST.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—William A. Cunnea, defeated Socialist candidate for state's attorney of Cook county, today filed a contest against Macley Hoyne, the Democratic state's attorney-elect. Cunnea demands a recount, charging fraud. A motion to appoint watchers for the ballot boxes was made by Cunnea's counsel.

HOCKIN GIVES INFORMATION

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., NOV. 30.—William J. Burns story of his pursuit of the McNamara and Ortiz McManigal after the Los Angeles Times explosion was told by him at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

At the time of the explosion on October 1st, 1910, he said he was on a train from San Francisco to Los Angeles and the next day he, as a detective, was employed by Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles to run down the dynamiters. He remained on the Pacific coast until the latter part of December when he returned to Chicago. In Chicago he said he met Herbert S. Hockin now secretary of the iron workers union. Hockin is accused by the government of having betrayed the dynamiters while he himself was a dynamiter.

Mr. Keeley said there was less and less demand for long stories and predicted the early arrival of the eight column newspaper.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

W. G. Lleyer, University of Wisconsin, president; James Melvin Lee University of the City of New York, vice president; F. W. Harrington, University of Ohio, secretary-treasurer.

SITUATION ON MEXICAN BORDER IS RAPIDLY GROWING WORSE

Steever Protests to War Department Against Any Reduction of Border
Patrol, Such as Was About to be Ordered.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The situation on the Mexican border has recently been rapidly growing worse.

General Steever has protested to the war department against any reduction of the border patrol, such as was about to be ordered. Many of the lesser insurgent leaders have developed great activity after a period of long quiescence and adding their quotas to the considerable force which under general Salazar has been operating between Columbus, N. M., and El Paso, have thrown the whole border in that quarter in a state of disturbance.

Yesterday one of these rebel bands struck a small town about fifty miles south of Durango and, after wantonly destroying all the ranch property in the neighborhood, practically exterminated the small garrison of twenty-four federal troops.

GIVES PATRICK GOOD ADVICE.

St. Louis, Nov. 30.—John C. Miller, brother-in-law of Albert T. Patrick, who spent vast sums of money in aiding Patrick's defense and in proceedings which brought about Patrick's commutation of sentence and finally pardon as the murderer of William M. Rice, disapproves of Patrick's attempt to get a share of Rice's fortune.

Milliken today sent Patrick this message:

"Newspapers report you having retained attorney to start litigation against the trustees of the Rice estate. Such action suicidal. I shall not aid you in it or give it countenance in any manner. I advised you to stop talking to newspapers. Go hide yourself."

ARRESTED ON "WHITE SLAVE" CHARGE.

Portsmouth, O., Nov. 30.—R. D. Briggs was arrested here today by U. S. Marshal E. E. McGuire under the "white slavery" act. Briggs is alleged to have enticed Mrs. Pearl Nelson, a young married woman of Johnson City, Tenn., away from her home. The man and woman were schoolmates and neither had met after their marriages until last July when Mrs. Nelson abandoned a child to accompany Briggs by threats of force, it is claimed by the government.

District Attorney Miller stated that only one more witness for the government would be called on Monday and then the government will rest its case.

REFUSED TO INVALIDATE VOTE.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 30.—District Judge Charles Bradshaw in an opinion today refused to invalidate the vote of Polk county as sought by certain defeated candidates who charged irregularities in the voting machines. The court denied the writ of certiorari, as prayed on the ground that the machines were purchased prior to 1910, and that the writ of certiorari cannot go back of one year. Also he held that the supervisors in purchasing the machines were acting in a legislative rather than a judicial capacity and hence are not subject to certiorari.

PIONEER MINER DIES.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 30.—James Burke, partner of James Marshall, who first discovered gold in California, and said to be the last of the party that was with Marshall, died at his home south of Reno today aged 82 years.

TEACHERS DISCUSS MODERN JOURNALISM

SUCCESS IN WRITING LIES IN ORI- GINALITY OF STYLE

James Keeley of Chicago Tribune, gives accuracy and terseness as essentials of news writing—Lleyer Elected President of Organization.

CHICAGO, NOV. 30.—"Journalism is not an exact science," said Prof. Talcott Williams, dean of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, today at the conference of the teachers of journalism.

"The success of the journalist lies not in writing as other people have written which is the necessary basis of academic composition, but in writing something different that will lead every city editor in the city the next morning to wonder who wrote that story, how much a week he is getting and if he can be stolen from his office."

James Keeley, general manager of the Chicago Tribune, gave accuracy and terseness as the essentials of news writing.

"A man regards a mistake in his name as a personal insult," he said. "Students of newspaper work should be compelled to copy names and get them right. Another useful exercise is to condense speeches into a hundred words."

Mr. Keeley said there was less and less demand for long stories and predicted the early arrival of the eight column newspaper.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

Governor Woodrow Wilson is willing to take the oath of office as president of the United States without ostentation on March 4th, and that the formal ceremonies that every fourth year attract thousands of persons to Washington be postponed to the last Thursday in April. To that extent he has endorsed the propaganda in favor of a later inauguration which has been advocated in and out of congress in order that the event might be conducted at a time when the weather is usually propitious at the national capital.

PRINCE OF TONIGHT COMING

There are more than a score of reasons why the chorus in "The Prince of Tonight," in which Tom Arnold, will appear at Hunt's opera house next Friday is the superior of similar groups in most musical comedies, said reasons being embodied in an equal number of vivacious girls selected for their ability to sing and dance, as well as to appear attractive. There are nearly twenty numbers in the musical fantasy, "The Prince of Tonight," and there is plenty of strenuous work for the chorus, and they are said to do it well enough to be a big feature throughout the three acts.

CEDER RAPIDS RAISES $250,000 FOR COE COLLEGE ENDOWMENT

Little City Established What is Said to be a World's Record by Raising Huge Amount by Popular Subscription.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 9.—Cedar Rapids established what is said to be a world's record for a city of her size tonight, having raised by popular subscription $250,000 for a building and endowment fund for Coe college, a local institution.

Several months ago the Rockefeller foundation granted Coe college $100,000 provided $550,000 additional was raised. Of this amount $300,000 was to be raised outside the city and $250,000 in Cedar Rapids.

A committee consisting of a hundred of the business men of the city spent a week soliciting the subscriptions. They ranged from $5 to $50.00. The $650,000 is to be used for the erection of three new buildings and for the endowment fund.

This campaign for Coe college was the climax of a series of similar campaigns in Cedar Rapids. One hundred thousand dollars was previously raised for a science hall for Coe college, $80,000 was raised for a new Y. W. C. A., $25,000 for an addition to the Y. M. C. A. and $25,000 for sunshine mission building. All was raised during the past three years by popular subscriptions.

HAS MADE A GOOD RECORD.

John A. Rawlings closed his term as circuit clerk Saturday and Eugene D. Paynt will assume the duties of the office tomorrow. Mr. Rawlings has held the office for the past four years and leaves it with an excellent record. During his term the methods in the office have been improved and the work efficient can be properly applied to his work and management. In both the recording department and in affairs pertaining to the circuit court Mr. Rawlings and his deputies have given the public prompt and efficient service and in entering upon his duties Mr. Paynt will find everything in first class condition and the work all up-to-date. Mr. Rawlings has not announced his plans, but his Jacksonville friends are wishing that he may stay in this city either in business or engaging in the practice of law. John E. Hall, one of his deputies will remain for a time in the office to assist Mr. Paynt and deputies in familiarizing themselves with the work. Frank Tendick, another deputy, who has closed a satisfactory term of work, will probably devote his time to the brick business in which he is a partner.

MORE THAN TWENTY FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS PLEDGED TO WOMAN'S COLLEGE

CAMPAIGN OF LESS THAN TWO DAYS HAS RESULTED IN NEARLY HALF THE SUM REQUIRED

Men and Women are Both Working With Enthusiasm to Accomplish the Desired End--College Girls Parade Causes Enthusiasm--Twenty One Speakers Will Tell About Woman's College in Churches Today.

From less than seventy contributors the amount thus far pledged for the Woman's College in the campaign for $60,000 in Jacksonville is $25,200. The high mark of $30,000 set by some workers for Saturday was not reached, but nevertheless the campaign has progressed with marvelous success and it is a really surprising thing when one considers that with only two days of effort that nearly half the sum has been raised. Saturday is a very bad day for solicitation work and very few of the men could get out and see persons assigned to them.

Today while there will be no work of solicitation twenty-one persons have been assigned to make brief statements about the college in various churches of Jacksonville and Morgan county. Tomorrow the actual work of solicitation will be on in earnest and without doubt the chairmen of the various teams will have something to report by noon on that day. One great factor in the campaign is that every man and woman one meets is certain that the campaign is going to succeed. It is the old story that nothing succeeds like success.

The women are doing valiant work in the campaign and already have reported gifts amounting to $4,325. They have undertaken to raise $10,000 and at the rate they are going forward will pass the high mark. Saturday afternoon several hundred college girls marched from the college to the public square and after stopping in front of the Jacksonville National Bank, Waddell & Co., at the southwest corner of the square, to have their picture taken, at the Farrell bank, they proceeded to college headquarters on West State street and there gave a rousing serenade. Their program included cheers, college yell and a series of "donation" songs. Hundreds of pretty college girls, singing songs and waving pennants made an imposing picture and their enthusiasm was a big boost for the campaign. The best thing about it is that the girls are enthusiastic for the college every day.

Now the college campaign can be said to be well under way and there will be something interesting doing every hour of each day and some of the night hours until the good and final announcement is made that the total sum required has been secured.

Among the speakers who will visit churches today are the following: Dr. Harker, Dr. Hancher, Albert Metcalf, J. J. Reeve, Mrs. J. J. Reeve, W. E. Veitch, Judge Baldwin, Miss Edith Neal, Rev. A. F. Ewert, Dr. J. W. Miller, Dr. F. A. McCarty, Paul Fritche, Pres. Agnew of Hedding College and J. W. Walton.

The speakers will take to their destinations in automobiles the itinerary having been carefully worked out. The cars provide for the day are owned by T. H. Buckthorpe, Rev. H. S. Alkire, J. J. Reeve, W. L. Ransdell and D. E. Kennedy.

DETECTIVES USE UNIQUE METHOD TO DISCOVER PETTY THIEF

Attempt Will be Made by Chicago Police to Decoy Some of the Purse Snatchers That Infest the City.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Half a dozen slim, graceful, beardless and small footed detectives were selected here today to be dressed up in women's clothes with muffs and tempting looking purses to decoy some of the army of purse snatchers that have descended on this city.

The innovation was the idea of Captain William Cudmore of the North Shore district. He put in part of the afternoon picking out the men and giving the orders for their street dresses. The assignment is not decided by the policemen who are eligible for such duty and the likely ones are trembling in fear of having to put on high heeled shoes and corsets.

Captain Cudmore was firm, however. He talked the situation over with Lieutenants O'Malley and McCarthy of the Summerdale and Rogers Park stations today and ordered them to select a few men from their forces.

"I am going to send these men out in the district in veils and with mesh bags in their hands to get some of these purse snatchers," he said. "Let them keep their guns handy in their skirts and when one of these thieves tries his game they can put him under arrest."

Jacksonville people would do well to drop into this establishment and see for themselves. The plant is located on East State street.

LAND OWNERS PREPARING TO ORGANIZE DRAINAGE DISTRICT

Purpose is to Straighten Mauvaiserre Creek and Make Land Now
Practically Waste Available For Farming Purposes.

In the Morgan county court Saturday, L. O. Vaughn, as attorney in the proceedings looking to the organization of the Mauvaiserre Creek

Drainage district, filed a petition asking that such a district be organized. The purpose of the district is to reclaim a lot of valuable farm land which is now almost useless because of the wanderings and curves of Mauvaiserre creek. It is proposed to include in the district lands extending from the C. P. &
St. L. bridge northeast of Jacksonville to the Wabash bridge west of Markham on the Scott county line.

The land to be reclaimed or benefitted is estimated at 1,000 acres and the estimated cost of the improvement is $18,000. Messrs. Caldwell and Nelson are engineers for the proposed district and a map prepared by them was filed with the petition.

The hearing is to be had Jan. 6 in the county court when three commissioners will be appointed. They will then have power to make an investigation and if they are satisfied that the proposed work is advisable to proceed to have it done. If on the other hand they do not approve of the plans then they can have the plans set aside. Practically all of the land owners having lands to be included in the district joined in the petition and they were led in to the project partially because of the success of the Indian Creek district recently constructed.

The formation of the district and the straightening and deepening of the channel of the Mauvaiserre creek will be a benefit to Jackson

JACKSONVILLE DAILY JOURNAL

MRS. PANSY LESH
GUEST IN CITY

ACCOMPANIED HERE BY HER
UNCLE L. P. LUTTRELL.

Young Woman Who Was Freed by Jury in Sedalia, Mo., Will Spend
Few Days in Jacksonville, Before Going to Los Angeles—Will Seek Divorce From Husband.

"Yes, I am glad to be in Jacksonville and to learn that my people reside here, but I am going back to my former home in Los Angeles, in a short time," said Mrs. Pansy Ellen Lesh, who arrived in Jacksonville Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock over the Wabash accompanied by her uncle L. P. Luttrell of Franklin, Ill. For the past two days they have been visiting with relatives in Springfield, having come there from Sedalia, Mo., where Mrs. Lesh was taken from Los Angeles, Calif., to answer the charge of poisoning two women, which confession she made to police authorities in California.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Lesh was formerly Miss Pansy Hastings, of a family who at one time resided in Jacksonville and community. The family moved away from the city when Pansy was small and went to Spaulding Springs, Mo., the place where Pansy was born. Here her parents parted and for a time the father looked after the child and later she was sent to a St. Louis orphanage home. She was only about the home a short time when she went to live at the residence of Col. Quaintance and later with Mrs. Cox, who resided in Sedalia, Mo., neighborhood. The girl later on met Mr. Lesh, to whom she was married five years ago and until last summer they lived in East St. Louis, when they moved out to Los Angeles, Calif., for Mrs. Lesh's health. It was there that Mrs. Lesh made her confession, which culminated in her being brought back to Sedalia, Mo., to stand trial.

Mrs. Lesh and her uncle, upon arriving in the city went to the home of Scott Carter, 742 East Chambers street. It was here that the reporter found Mrs. Lesh in the afternoon. She is a most affable young woman to meet, possessing a pleasing personality, and although her life has been overshadowed with many troubles and sorrows, in all the years scarcely knowing what it meant to have a home, she gives no evidence of the many trials, which have come to her.

She had just laid aside some beautiful needle work, showing her skill with the needle. She had several designs almost finished, and although having no instructions along this line, displayed ability to one who had made it a study.

"Are you glad to be in Jacksonville?" was asked. "Yes, I am, although this is not my first visit here. My uncle and I have been in Springfield for the past two days visiting with my relatives there."

"Did you know before your confession that you had relatives in Morgan county?"

"I knew that I had several uncles, and other relatives somewhere in the world, but father always told me that when I got a little older he would tell me all about my folks."

"Did you know just where your people resided?"

"No, I did not. I knew that it was in some city, but I was scarcely school age when we left Jacksonville."

"When did you first learn of your people here?"

"It was while I was in the hands of police officers in Los Angeles, when I received a letter from one of my relatives from Jacksonville."

"It was 2 o'clock in the morning when I was awakened and handed the message. This was the first time that I knew I was to get part of the Luttrell estate, which fell to my mother."

"Do you remember your mother?"

"Oh, yes, I was quite a big girl when my father and mother separated. This happened in Missouri."

"Did you ever see your mother after that?"

"Only once, some five years afterwards."

"And what became of your father?"

"Father was unjustly put in the penitentiary. There was a big steer that kept coming onto our farm and father drove it away several times. Finally one day when the owner found the animal in father's possession, father was put on trial for stealing, convicted by a jury and sentenced for two years in the penitentiary."

"Did you hear of him after?"

"Yes, once, someone told me that he did not serve out his entire term, because of good behavior. I think father died shortly after getting out. He had always been used to the open air and the confinement was bad on his health. My father was a good man and I am certain that he would have searched every corner of the country in an effort to find me."

"And what became of your mother?"

"Only once did I see my mother after my parents separated, and that briefly."

"Have you tried to let her know of your whereabouts?"

"Yes, after I left the orphanage home in St. Louis, where ever I went, I wrote the management a letter, and they knew exactly where to find me. Mother knew that I was sent there and I always thought that if she ever inquired for me at the home they could direct her to me. I do not believe that mother is living, although that is hard to cipher out. If she were in this part of the country now, she certainly would have heard all about me through the press."

"Can you remember anything at all about Jacksonville?"

"Well, I have a faint recollection of living near the gas works and of my father being a huckster and of us driving out to a place where Spencer lived west of town where we resided a short time."

"How did you come to make a confession of your crimes?"

"It came about in this manner. After my husband and I moved out to Los Angeles, I found out more and more that I was not going to be able to get along with him. I once loved him dearly, and meant to stick to him as long as life lasted. But my love for him turned to hate and when we separated he took our little two year old son. Before I married Mr. Lesh I told him of the deeds I had done in Missouri. I didn't want to marry him, and then later in life, something turned up and he found out that he had married such a person. I was honest with him, and told him everything. Well, when we parted for the last time in Los Angeles, he flung it in my teeth that now he would get even with me. He would blare it to the newspapers and every where the crimes I had done. I knew that he was not joking about the matter. I studied the matter over carefully and thought the only course to do was to tell the whole story first, and that is just what I did."

"Do you intend to get a divorce?"

"Yes, when I return to Los Angeles I shall proceed through the courts to get legal separation. Of course I can't tell about my baby, naturally a mother clings to her child, but what a mother wants and what the law says are two different things. One thing is certain I shall never live with my husband again."

"Do you expect to make Los Angeles your home?"

"Since being there I have improved greatly in health and I think that it is best for me to remain in that part of the country."

"What do you expect to do there?"

"Oh, I already have a nice position as a housekeeper in a private home. I shall continue in that work until I can get a home of my own."

Mrs. Lesh was questioned about her trial in Sedalia, Mo. She said she was treated loyally by the people there and every one seemed to have a word of sympathy for her. She said that there was no question in her mind but what she would be cleared. All the testimony given was in her favor. Even the judge wrote out the verdict and directed the foreman of the jury to sign it. Mrs. Lesh stated that if she had known as much about the law in the case as she does not, it would never have been necessary to go through the proceedings she did.

"Did any lawyers want to take your case?"

"Yes, in Los Angeles, the next morning after I made my confession and it was learned that I was to get some money from relatives there were six lawyers who visited me and made various offers in the matter. I received one letter from a man in Chicago, who understood that I was the only heir to the $75,000 estate and he wanted me to come to Chicago right away as he had a proposition that would be a good paying investment."

Although Mrs. Lesh has not had the school privileges given to many she has a good education and writes intelligently, and speaks fluently. Often in her interview she would speak with decided firmness and would emphasize her words with a gesture.

Mrs. Lesh, by virtue of the will shares in the Luttrell estate, her portion being something like $3,500. After the estate is settled relatives are visited here and in Franklin Mrs. Lesh will return west. She rejoices to be received so gladly by her folks and really enjoys a freedom she never had experienced before.

DETECTIVES TO DON FEMININE
APPAREL TO CATCH THEIVES

Put Perfume on Money and When Thief Passes They Recognize the Odor and Make Capture.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Perfume was used by detectives today in solving the mysterious disappearance of small sums of money from the vault of the University of Chicago Press building. For six weeks money has been taken from the safe where postage stamps and change from the cash register are kept. Detectives put on the case perfumed money and then passed themselves as workmen remodeling the building. Today when William Mahler, 17 years old, a shipping clerk, entered the vault to put the postage stamps away for the night, he opened the compartment where the change from the cash register was kept. He took $2.25 from the vault, according to the detectives, and was leaving with the money when they noticed the odor of the perfume.

They stopped him and demanded the money. This frightened Mahler who handed over the $2.25 which he still held in his hand and was then arrested.

Later in a confession to boy said he was induced to steal to gratify his desire to own an aeroplane.

Because of the lack of witnesses, it was said it will be impossible to convict LaPorte unless he confirms his former confession.

Officers here declared they believed LaPorte, with a full knowledge of the situation, had confessed in Chicago merely to obtain free transportation to Tucson.

STORY OF THE SEXTANT.

A Chance Observation That Gave Godfrey a Great Idea.

The element of chance plays an important role in invention and in no case is this more strikingly illustrated than in that of Thomas Godfrey, the American who improved upon the quadrant, or, rather, devised the sextant, the basic notion for which he got by noting the reflection of the sun from a nail of water.

Godfrey was a glazier by trade, but he had a taste for mathematics and was a man of some culture.

John Hadley had also invented a sextant, apparently a development of a suggestion of Newton's, found among his papers at his death. Godfrey anticipated Hadley by about one year, but for a long time his claims were not recognized. Hadley receiving the entire credit.

The glazier thus received his inspiration for the instrument that was to prove of such value to mariners. One day, while replacing a pane of glass in a window of a house in Philadelphia opposite a pump, he saw a girl, after filling her pail, put it upon the sidewalk. The observant glazier saw the sun reflected from the window on which he had been at work into the bucket of water. His mind quickly perceived the significance of the situation, and he was thus led to the design of an instrument "for drawing the sun down to the horizon," a device incomparably superior to any that had hitherto been used for the ascertainment of angular measurements.—Harper's Weekly.

THE SIMPLE LIFE.

No Trouble for Australian Aborigines to Break Camp.

An Australian aborigine breaks the monotony of his life by frequent visits to other camps, but his preparations for these holidays have a simplicity about them which must appeal to many a worried housewife. It is thus described by Messrs. Spencer and Gillen in "Across Australia."

"Apart from ceremonies and dances, the one great break in the monotony of life is paying visits to strange camps. Packing up is not a tedious process. The man simply walks out of camp, carrying his spear, spear thrower, boomerangs and shield; the woman takes the youngest child across her hip, balances a pitchfork on her head, and, with one arm round the child and a digging stick in her free hand, she is ready for the road. The girl children and younger women look after the puppies, which are never left behind, on any account, and, when unable to walk, are carried in pitchforks like young babies.

"Two minutes at most is all the time required for an aboriginal family to pack up and start and there is no trouble in regard to the house while the owners are away. If any one chooses to occupy it during their absence he can do so, but the owners will see at a glance who has been in possession while they have been away."

He Found the Ghost.

"Talking about ghosts," said the janitor of one of the best known concert halls in the city, "makes me think of the scare I got the other day when I went into the auditorium after some supplies I had left back on the stage. As I stepped into the place I heard scraping and hauling on the stage. Some one was pulling and blowing and then whistling a bit. For the moment my hair began to stand up. I managed to get to one of the switches and turned on the light. There was the ghost! One of the piano houses had sent over one of their blind tuners to fix up a piano and there he had been working away in the dark, his tools scattered around the stage and parts of the piano strewn about."—New York Sun.

Hostel and Inn.

At one time the words "hostel" and "inn" were not confined to licensed houses, but were applied to lodging houses. The "Inns" of Oxford and Cambridge, very numerous before the introduction of colleges, were regulated by the college authorities. The Inns of court were provided for the accommodation of law students. In olden times country houses of the aristocracy, during the absence of the owners, were used as "Inns," or guest houses. It was then the rule to hang out as signs the arms of the owners; hence the origin of public house signs.

"Very likely, Laura. And say, why can't we have an understanding in the matter—a division of labor, as it were? I'll do the asking, and you keep tab."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Real Thing.

"Do these emotional actresses ever shed real tears?" asked Mrs. Grouch, between acts.

"Sure," replied Mr. Grouch. "Every now and then they hit a bum town and get a peak at the box office receipts."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE INFLUENCE OF BOOKS.

"We spend much time in the search for suitable associates for our boys and girls. None of our neighbors' children seem quite good enough—perhaps the neighbors are equally critical in regard to our children. We hope not, but we know that the ideal youth does not flourish on our street, and we have learned with sorrow that our boys acquire from their playmates vices oftener than virtues.

"Yet there is a world into which children may enter and find noble companionship. It is the world of books. Let your boy escape for a time from the meanness of the boy across the street, and let him roam the woods with Hiawatha, sail the seas with Sinbad, build stockades with Crusoe, fight dragons with Jason, joust with Galahad; let him play at quoits with Odysseus, and at football with Tom Brown. These are playmates who will never quarrel with him, nor bully him, but from whom he will learn to be brave, self-reliant, manly, quick to do for others, and set with his face toward the light. 'Tell me what company thou keepest and I will tell thee what thou art,' says an old Spanish proverb. The child who lives on terms of intimacy with such heroes as these cannot fail to be strong and true.

"This does not mean that children should be raised under glass. They must be out in the world and grow up among their fellows. Freedom gives them strength and self-reliance; but at the age when impressions are so quickly made—and so indelibly—the child needs an antidote for the poison of bad companionship, and this antidote is to be found within the covers of a good story book. To the child a story is a very real thing.

"The child is a hero worshiper, and if you do not give him a true hero, he will set up in the sanctuary of his heart a tawdry imitation of one. He will worship and imitate in a small way the bully of his school, because the bully is strong and aggressive; but let him once know King Arthur and the Chevalier Bayard, and he will lose admiration for every sort soever of bully from that time forth." From Field's "Finger Posts to Children's Reading."

"The usual method of buying a book for a Christmas gift for a child is to go to the book store, glance through the stock, without any knowledge of the merits of the individual books, and finally select one that comes within a price limit which has been fixed, or one which has a pretty cover. Very few people care to pay $1.50 for a story which will be of temporary interest to a small child. It is really rather difficult to find any thing which will compete in price with the 25¢ "thriller" which offers the abnormal view of life and makes boys discontented with their surroundings. We can offer something vastly better, but it usually costs more money. The ordinary investment is a poor one, for the 25¢ book will not be of permanent interest and value, but will accomplish its vicious purpose with one reading. It is surely better to spend 50¢ for a book which will delight all the members of the family—young and old, and in which its owner will take pleasure for many years. A poor book is the poorest investment, all considered, that can be made.

"There are some very good books that are cheap. Indeed, the great classics may be had for from 25¢ to 50¢ for a book which will delight all the members of the family—young and old, and in which its owner will take pleasure for many years. A poor book is the poorest investment, all considered, that can be made.

"One can imagine good fathers and mothers delighted with the pleasure of the Christmas day, viewing with satisfaction, the circle of children poring over their new books, utterly ignorant of the company their children are really in, and unconscious of the fact that their minds have gone from the wholesome family life into the company of ignorant, vicious companions—for the characters in the story books are real companions who influence children most strongly. (It is with a desire to prevent such things that the Library each year shows the best children's books at Christmas time.) No one who has investigated the records of the reform schools and jails is ignorant of the fact that much of the crime and degradation is the direct result of reading. The newspapers contain, every day, stories of boys who have committed crimes or who are running away from home in imitation of the characters of the "penny dreadfuls" and nickelodeons. Many of the best books for children cannot be had for less than $1 and many of them cost more.

HOW TO RESIST.

Chronic Coughs and Colds. Strong vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cold is to build up your run down condition again?

Mrs. Olivia Parham of East Durham, N. C., says: "I took Vinol for a chronic cough which had lasted two years and the cough not only disappeared, but it built up my strength as well."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building iron added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run-down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. Lee P. Allcott, Jacksonville, Ill.

PHYSICS IN THE HOUSEHOLD

One of series of articles by student C. E. French, minister. Morning service, 10:45. On the next three Sunday mornings the pastor will present three Christmas meditations on "Preparation for the King." The topic for this Sunday will be "Rome." Vesper service, 4:30. The sermon titles will be "Misrepresent Goodness; One of the Handicaps of the Church."

Formerly science, as well as other subjects in the high school and college curriculum, were learned inside of the school building and seemed never to be taken out of it into everyday life. Thus a subject was studied, mastered for the time being, then forgotten.

In later day education we seem to be grasping the great truth that applying the knowledge we gain is a safe and sure way of retaining it, and by the use of the truths of science in particular, we may greatly improve many of our hitherto tasks of drudgery, elevating them to a dignified science. This possibility seems greater for woman in the household than in any other place; something which we have done each day, takes on new interest when the reasons are understood. In the household that some consideration of its application may prove of interest.

Heat, one of the greatest of physical forces, is one of the most essential factors of work in the household.

Combustion may be defined as the combining of a substance with oxygen to liberate heat.

This process occurs both inside and outside of the body.

The oxygen is obtained from the air which we breathe, and is the main support of life.

In the household we see combustion taking place in the burning of fuel to produce heat.

The effect of heat upon different substances varies with the nature of the substance.

Metals expand with heat, as illustrated by the fact that an iron griddle may become extremely hot and upon quick cooling cracks.

Air also expands with heat.

In a heated liquid we have often watched small round bubbles rise to the surface of the liquid, then burst.

The reason for their rising is that the air in the liquid nearest the flame becomes heated, expands and since it is lighter bubbles of the air rise to the top and as soon as the pressure is released they burst.

The transference of heat as a substance is carried on in three ways, namely, conduction, convection and radiation.

By the first, conduction, we mean the transfer of heat from one molecule to another of the substance.

Thus in the heating of a pan of water in which we may be cooking potatoes, the heat is transferred from the flame to the water and by the water to the potatoes.

Some materials are better conductors of heat than others, aluminum being one of the best, and wood, one of the poorest.

For this reason the entire surface of an aluminum pan is evenly heated, while a pan of other metal will be much hotter in some places than in others.

This also explains why handles on aluminum vessels should be of some other material which does not so readily conduct heat and why wooden spoons are preferable to use in stirring a hot mixture.

Non-conduction may be easily understood as the opposite of conduction.

Fireless cookers, thermos bottles, are illustrations of the use of non-conducting material.

The packing around the apartments of a fireless cooker are paper pulp, sawdust or some material which will not transfer the heat to the air.

The heat retained in the apartments is sufficient to cook the food if it is kept in the required length of time.

Convection is the transference of heat by the movement of comparatively large masses of heated substance from one point to another.

This may be shown by the boiling of water. Heated water as well as heated air becomes lighter and being lighter than the surrounding water, rises to the top, while the colder and therefore heavier water from the sides comes in and takes its place.

It has been evident that conduction and convection deal only with the transference of heat through the agency of water. How then is heat transferred through a room? Radiation is the means by which heat travels from one place to another through the air. The passing of heat from a grate fire to an object in front of it, or the heat in an oven to a dish in it, the broiling of a steak or the cooking of griddle cakes are illustrations of heat by radiation.

Possibly the next important factor of heat to be discussed should be the Caloric. The Caloric is the unit of heat, standing for the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water four degrees Fahrenheit. In the household we deal most with Calories in relation of food to the body, there being a definite number of Calories of heat needed by the body each day. Some foods yield more heat than others and this should be taken into consideration in preparing food for different seasons of the year; less heat producing food being required in the summer than in the winter months. Bacon, for instance, yields 8.86 calories per grain, butter 8.6 calories, rice 3.51 calories, white lean beef 9.8 calories, white lean beef and starch 9.8 calories. Thus fats and starch foods would be wisely reduced in diet for the hot months.

Thus if the naturally inquiring minds of our housewives were to be turned to questioning why they do such a thing in such a way, their increased understanding and interest in their work would lighten and make more pleasant their tasks.

Louise Gilliland.

The Trip to California Under Special Care

"You feel like sorting out and tying together the memories of this trip and keeping them separate from all others trips." A woman recently said this after a pleasant experience on a Burlington Route "Personally Conducted" excursion party to California. She traveled alone, but met many agreeable people on the car, which was in charge of a special conductor. This good-natured official was a well-informed, courteous man who went all the way through with the party, looking after everyone's comfort and attending to all the little details of the trip. Thus a woman or child in one of these parties can travel with perfect safety and freedom from care.

If you would like to know more about the Burlington's comfortable, popular and inexpensive personally conducted excursions to California, through scenic Colorado and Salt Lake City, please write me a postal and I'll be glad to send you a copy of our illustrated folder, describing the trip in detail, the scenery, the choice of routes, telling all about how to join one of these parties and containing one of the best maps of California ever published.

SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES GATHER FOR CONGRESS SESSION

Little Important Legislation Likely To Be Passed Before March 4th—Notable Men Will Sing Swan Songs.

Washington, Nov 30.—With the opening of the final session of the sixty-second congress but two days away senators and representatives from near and far are pouring into the capital to day on every train. Heavily loaded baggage trucks proclaim to the people on the street that law making is about to be resumed. The hotel proprietors, boarding house keepers and restauranteurs again have put on smiles that won't come off for three months.

It will be a short session, of course, since it will expire by constitutional limitation on March 4. There may be some feeble attempt to constructive legislation, but they will amount to little, as politicians of both parties admit that the three months is entirely too short a time in which to perform any important task along this line. Little else than the passage of the various appropriation bills is likely to be attempted. Tariff bills will not be heard of until the extra session, it is conceded, but the Burton immigration bill, the Philippine independence bill and the workmen's compensation bill will be given preference by the rules committee. In addition to these, it is expected that the proposition to purchase Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, now owned by Representative Levy of New York, will be sprung early in the session.

In both houses the session will be remarkable largely in that it will mark the farewell appearance of many members who for years have been leaders or familiar figures in the senate or house. Among the senators who will enter upon their final session in the upper house are Wetmore of Rhode Island, Bourne of Oregon, Briggs of New Jersey, Brown of Nebraska, Paynter of Kentucky, Curtis of Kansas, Culom of Illinois, and Crane of Massachusetts.

Chief among the members of the house who will sing their swan song before March 4 are "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, one of the most picturesque figures in twenty congresses, barring one, and speaker of the house for four consecutive terms. Other well known representatives who are about to pass out with the tide are "Nick" Longworth of Ohio, William B. McKinley of Illinois, Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, William A. Rodenberg of Illinois, Daizell of Pennsylvania, McCall of Massachusetts, Needham of California, and Pio of Louisiana.

The opening session Monday, in accordance with precedent, will be brief and largely perfunctory. Several new senators and representatives who have been appointed or elected to fill vacancies that have occurred since the adjournment of the last session will be inducted into office. Both houses will appoint committees to call upon the president to notify him that congress is in session. Each branch will appoint another committee to notify the other house that it is in readiness to proceed with legislative business. When these matters have been disposed of both branches will adjourn "as a further mark of respect" to the members who have passed away since adjournment.

President Taft's annual message is expected to be read before each house on Tuesday. Then the country can watch them thrust and parry and intermittently legislate for three months, barring the time of recess over the Christmas holidays.

There is bound to be a lot of preliminary partisan strategy bearing on the turning over of control of all branches of the government to the Democrats next March. But the chances are that, aside from agitation, nothing of great importance actually will happen until the extraordinary session of the sixty-third congress convenes at the call of President Wilson.

Chairman Henry of the house rules committee will be one of the most important figures in the coming session. As there will be a limited supply of calendar Wednesdays, the rules committee will have a tremendous power in shaping the course of legislation during the three months.

The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill will be ready for the presentation to the house as soon as that body is ready for business. The figures in the bill have not been made public, but it is pretty well understood that the department heads and bureau chiefs have tired of the small estimates of the past two years and in this final effort of administration's officers have asked for about everything they could possibly think of.

FEELS GRATEFUL TO PASSAVANT HOSPITAL

C. W. Birdsell, residing five miles north of the city, was in yesterday to take home his daughter, Ora, who had been a patient at Passavant hospital and wholly of his own accord he took pains to see a journal reporter to state how well pleased he was with the treatment accorded his child while at the hospital. Everything pertaining to the treatment of the patient was so pleasing that Mr. and Mrs. Birdsell wanted it known. They also asked that mention be made of Drs. Cole and Obermeyer and surgeon Dr. Carl E. Black, who all were especially kind and capable in the treatment of the invalid who had to undergo a serious operation which was successful.

A LETTER FROM ENGLAND

Melville T. Kennedy, so well known to Jacksonville people has written the following letter from Oxford, Eng., which contains a good deal of interest.

Clarendon Hotel, Oxford, Eng., Oct. 11, 1912.

Dear People All:

I will send this, I was going to say, to the boys first, but I think it would probably be better if I send them all to the mater and have them go on from there.

I am sitting before the open fire-place in the "lounge" as they call it here, our parlors in American terminology. This is the only fire to be found in the hotel, and it is a chilly autumn day. Not even in the other writing rooms is there fire.

These blooming Englishmen must be used to it but to us it seems dreadfully uncomfortable to have everything so chilly inside the house. Our room is like a refrigerator. Of course we will have a fire in the grate in the morning but even so, it takes this little fire places a good while to heat up.

In London we kept a fire night and morning being charged two shillings a day for it in addition to our regular bill. A shilling is nearly a quarter.

Evidently the matter of mere animal warmth is a bane, not worth considering in the English scheme of things. Certainly they give little thought to attaining it, at least from our American, comfortable, steam-heated stand point.

Later:

We have just come out from dinner where, in an immense high ceilinged room, the only source of heat is an ordinary fire place at one end of the room. Nobody seemed cold however. In New York, the place would have had steam going through the pipes at mid-winter.

At any rate, it seems to suit the English complexions. We have noticed everywhere the deepest tinge on the cheeks of both sexes, young and old. I have been speculating as to its cause. Whether all the fog and coal smoke of London or being inured to this frigidity produced it. I think the latter is perhaps the more plausible hypothesis. Certain it is that I have never seen such brilliant cheeks elsewhere.

Well, after the rambling disquisition, let us pick up the thread of narrative again. I brought you up to Monday night, was it not?

I went all round Trafalgar Square, about the center of London and one of its finest spots, where is a great statue of Nelson and a fine one of Chinese Gordon, over Westminster bridge to see parliament buildings, and then spent the remaining time in the abbey. Later, we went through this again together.

It is surely a wonderful place, with tombs, chairs, and art work, that go back to the thirteenth century. I was a little disappointed in the poets' corner, for it didn't seem as imposing as my imagination had pictured it.

Longfellow was the only American there, excepting Lowell, the only anywhere in the abbey, which is running over with inscriptions and tablets. Lowell's bust and a beautiful window are situated in a dark passage to a separate chapter house, where no doubt it is overlooked by a great majority of visitors. I found it by chance only. Some of the inscriptions are very quaint. In a little sequestered cloister there is one inscription on the wall all by itself which ran as follows:

"In memory of Mr. Thomas Smith of Emily-Lovett in ye county of Worcester; and Bach of Arts, late of Ch. Gh. Oxford who through ye spotted valle of small-pox rendered a pure and unspotted son to god, excepting, but not fearing death wh. ended his days Mon. the 10th Anno Domini, 1663. The virtues which in this short life were shown have equalled been by few, surpassed by none."

Ist this most quaint. Notice the contrast between the spotted valle and the unspotted soul. I suppose the "valle" is in our sense a "vale of tears." I have given the printing much as it is.

Myra spent some time in the national gallery of arts, taking Bobby with her while I was off alone, but when we tried to get back again later for a more thorough inspection it was too late. We hope to see more of the arts before long.

Our nurse maid came yesterday so we went off for a full day. In the morning we saw the change of guard in front of Buckingham palace. A brilliant scene with the scarlet uniforms and the great black shako's (?) of the soldiers.

We saw the Duke of Teck, brother of the queen, and thought we might catch a glimpse of the royalty as it was leave day, but failed in this.

The Tower of London took most of the afternoon. The armories with great collection of mail, etc., and the crown jewels being of most interest. Such gems we will not likely see again. The ruby in the king's crown is as big as a small hen's egg and the enormous diamonds (two of the Kohinoor from South Africa) are much larger, one heart-shaped being nearly two inches each way. These jeweled crowns, swords, great dishes, (?) etc., are all in immense glass cases in the jewel room of the tower. Very interesting was the little brown chapel, bare absolutely, where the keeper was at prayer when summoned to execute the little boys whose pictures are familiar, nephews of Richard III. Tis one of the finest specimens of Norman architecture left now. Outside we saw the spot where Henry VIII's wives were executed.

In the evening of Thursday we took one of Cook's drives through the poor London, White Chapel, Bethnal Green, Spital Fields. It was a disappointing venture and not very interesting. I saw nothing so bad as East Side in New York, although of course it must be there somewhere. On one street corner we saw our first suffragette, speaking to a crowd.

We left London at 10 o'clock this morning and arrived here in time for lunch at 12:30. For three hours we wandered around this afternoon seeing some of the colleges. They are everywhere, each arranged pretty much the same, and everything old, old old! More of them later. They are right in town and without the great stretches of campus we are used to in the United States except in a few cases.

Our nurse maid is a demure little lady in brown who fits right in easily. I am sorry we did not have her all the time in London. We decided to bring her along here and possible for the whole time remaining.

FISH FOR NICHOLS PARK.

There has been much complaint among fishermen regarding the ducks on the lakes at Nichols park, many anglers insisting that the ducks destroyed the spawn of the fish so that the lake was gradually being depopulated of the finny tribe.

Others have differed and say there are tens of thousands of fish in the lake and the reason there are so few caught is the fact that the big ones have plenty of little ones for feed and don't take to the hook and baits of the sportsmen.

Be that as it may, the park board desire to do everything in their power to make the place popular to all right minded classes and to that end requested of the government agent or commissioner at Quincy a lot of fish for the place and the response was prompt and generous so that yesterday morning custodian Dan Kelley went to the 8:28 Wabash train and received eleven cans of fish well assorted and placed them in the lake. Crappies, bass, sunfish and other kinds were in the lot and there was a fine lot of them.

HAVE DONE GOOD WORK FOR PASSAVANT
Ladies' Aid Society Has Accomplished Much During Past Year.

The good work done by the Ladies' Aid society for Passavant hospital in various ways can hardly be estimated. They meet and work with the needle in preparing supplies; they contribute money, which is judiciously used and in various ways they further the cause of the worthy enterprise which does so much for suffering humanity.

A recent work has been soliciting fruits and other goods from different sources and while the amount may seem large, still when we recall the family of invalids at the place all the time the sum total of the contributions will not last so very long.

The managers of the hospital are very grateful to all who have so kindly contributed in any way. They are particularly carrying out the injunction of the divine Master when He bids us aid His little ones. The hospital only tries to come out even at the end of the year and every cent taken in and every dollar's worth of goods contributed all go to the same end.

The treasurer, Mrs. Kate Hollinger, has kindly furnished the Journal with a list of the contributions and contributors.

The fruits are in addition to the supplies bought with the money contributed.

GENERAL MARKET NEWS*REPORTS OF CROP DAMAGE RALLIES WHEAT MARKET

Traders Also Take Notice That Estimates of Fall Sown Acreage Amount to Five Per Cent Less Than the Total a Year Ago.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Reports of damage, said to have been done by green bugs and dry weather southwest, rallied the wheat market today in the last hour. There was a firm close at prices varying from 3¢ decline to 3¢ advance. Corn finished 3¢ to 4¢ higher and oats up 3¢ to 4¢. The outcome in provisions ranged from 2% off to a rise of 12%.

Besides alleged injury to the growing crop, wheat traders took note of estimates that the fall sown acreage amounted to five per cent less than the total a year ago. Prolonging of export rates by way of gulf cities was also regarded as tending to help the bulls. Argentine despatches that harm done by storms had reached serious proportions gave a firm tone to wheat at the start, but weakness set in owing to peace news from Turkey and as a result of the big receipts. May wheat ranged from 89¢ and 90¢ @ 90%, with last sales 9¢ net higher at 90¢ @ 90%. Unsettled weather put strength into corn. Cables and the wheat rally counted also against the bears. May swung from 47¢ to 48¢, closing firm 5¢ over last night at 48¢.

Lightness of country offerings carried oats upward. Outside limits touched by May were 32¢ and 32¢, with the close 4¢ @ 4¢ higher at 32¢ @ 32¢.

Provisions advanced a little owing to nervousness about which the monthly statement would show regarding stocks on hand. The only material change was in November, which increased 12%.

GIBBONS AND M'GOORTY MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY

WILL DECIDE WHO IS SUCCESSION TO STANLEY KETCHEL

Both Men are in Great Condition and Both are Confident of Success—Gibbons is Picked to Receive the Popular Decision on Points.

(By James Corbett, Former Heavy Weight Champion of the World.)

New York, Nov. 30.—(Special to the Jacksonville Journal)—After Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, and Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, have settled their dispute with the gloves next Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden the sports ought to have a good line on the probable successor to Stanley Ketchel. It is the consensus of expert opinion that these ladies are the top-notchers in that king's division and in the east at least the victor will be recognized as the most legitimate claimant to the honors.

McGoorty is confident of success. He says that the popular impression that Gibbons has it on him in cleverness is a huge mistake and which he will demonstrate to everybody's satisfaction. Mac is also of the opinion that he can hit much harder and after nailing Mike with a couple of good punches the St. Paul man's skill will have vanished entirely; and, then, good night Mr. Gibbons. That's his side of the story. Whether he can solve Mike's wonderful defense or not remains to be seen.

Gibbons is not giving out much or publication, but occasionally drops a few remarks which suggest that he is quite some student of the game. Mike says that if he is not unfortunate enough to accidentally bump into one of Mac's hard hooks in the first round or two, he anticipates little trouble in winning the popular verdict. He figures Eddie dangerous only in the early stages and observes that the Oshkosh fighter loses form steadily as the bout progresses. He points to McGoorty's engagements in this city to prove his line of argument and to my way of thinking he has the right dope. In all his fights hereabouts that have gone the full ten rounds Eddie has slowed up perceptibly towards the finish. When an adversary succeeded in avoiding the early aggressiveness Mac seemed to lose interest in his job and usually finished at anything but top speed.

It is my belief based on the men's performances in New York that the bout will go to the limit with Gibbons earning the popular decision on points. Mike has a great left hand and knows how to use it to perfection. McGoorty showed in his bout with Jack Denning that a straight left annoys him considerably and seriously interferes with his plan of battle. I think Gibbons will feed it to him throughout the contest. Should Mac begin to show signs of "rattle" when tantalizing left is doing its work the right man will be brought into the game. And if opportunity offers I fancy Mike can show that he, too, has a punch.

At any rate the fans can rest assured that they will see a great battle. The men are at present in grand shape and unless sickness or accident should prevent the meeting Wednesday will be prepared to do their very best, which should be good enough for any lover of boxing.

Local devotees of boxing will welcome the return of the Garden Athletic club. Since that institution was forced to turn over its arena to other enterprises with previous bookings the fans have not had what might be called a first class entertainment. With the garden in line again the competitors of the Madison Square club will be forced to serve a better line of talent or get out of business.

The bantams have been exceedingly busy* of late. Last week Johnny Coulon appeared at one of the local clubs in a ten round bout with Charlie Goldman, and now the wise ones say the champion is ready for the toboggan. When Kid Williams, the Baltimore youngster, shaded him a month ago Coulon admitted his work was poor and offered as an excuse the long period of idleness which, he claimed, had made him rusty. But in the Goldman match Johnny had no such "alibi" to offer. His judgment of distance was very bad and he boxed like a novice; he appeared to have lost stamina and hitting power.

New Yorkers are of the opinion that the only thing which will save Coulon the title when he boxes Kid Williams next month is the rule prohibiting referees' decisions in this state. During a short career Williams has cleaned up all the legitimate bantams of the east and has yet to meet with defeat. The "Kid" is a natural born fighter who loves the game not only for the coin but for the fun of it. He has been dubbed a second Terry McGovern and does resemble the former great Brooklynite in many respects. But he lacks that terrific wallop that won Terry his spurs.

Charley Ledoux, the French bantam, failed to live up to the extravagant press agent yarns that have been industriously circulated, and his debut with a local kid, Battling Reddy, was not particularly impressive. On the single performance his chances of ever gaining the American title do not look very rosy. At that, to give the little foreigner due credit, he is one of the most willing boxers who ever stepped inside the ropes. He never loafed a minute, but he knows little of boxing. While "besting" Reddy the victory brought no glory. The Reddy youngster is only a second rater, albeit a tough one who can stand considerable punishment. Ledoux wasted enough energy to lick a heavy weight, but could not land a blow where it would do any real damage. If he can be taught to box Ledoux may some day prove a formidable aspirant for the championship, but not just now. At that I'd like to see him matched with Kid Williams, another "rusher," but with a better knowledge of boxing. It sure would be a "head-on" collision worth looking at.

That a very essential quality called class is lacking in the ranks of the "white hopes" was confirmed, if any doubt existed, by the battle between youth and old age at Buffalo last week. "Gunboat" Smith, a youngster weighing 136 pounds and ranked as one of the most promising of the newer crop of heavies, met the veteran "Twin" Sullivan, scaling 169 pounds, and barely succeeded in earning a draw, according to newspaper accounts of the meeting. Sullivan at his best was never championship material. Stanley Ketchel, a middle-weight, knocked "Twin" out in twenty rounds. But then poor Stanley was a real fighter, not a "hope."

Tom McCarey is going ahead with his white heavy weight tournament in a business like manner that is vastly pleasing to fight followers of the country. Luther McCarty and Jim Flynn contest at McCarey's Vernon arena December 10, and the winner is to box "Big Al" Palzer New Year's day. These two matches will uncover the best there is in the ranks of the white men at the present time and to bring about a quick solution of the present complicated heavy weight solution that the "best" man should be pitted against the winner of a Joe Jeannette-Sam Langford battle. That's the only way to insure a clean title. But it should be a case of the best white against the best black, and Jeannette and Langford should first be compelled to prove beyond a shadow of doubt which is entitled to the honor of battling for the championship. With Jack Johnson out of the game for good, the question of a successor is thus easily solved.

SEEK TO IMPROVE CONDITIONS IN SLUMS.

NATIONAL HOUSING ASSOCIATION WILL MEET IN CONFERENCE IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—How to abolish the slum will be the theme of a group of several hundred business men, city officials, social workers and college professors who will meet in Philadelphia Dec. 4, for the sessions of the National Conference on Housing in America. More than sixty cities will send delegations, among them men from each of the larger cities east of the Mississippi. Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, in Canada will all be represented.

"This conference marks a great step ahead in our battle with the slum," said John Ihler, gold secretary of the National Housing Association, which is holding the conference in association with the municipal government of Philadelphia. "Once before we have held a national meeting of a similar sort, but the interest then was confined largely to philanthropists and charitable workers. We are especially glad to see how the work is broadening out now. The Chicago Association of Commerce, for instance, the leading commercial body of that city, will send an official delegation. So will the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, one of the most active trade bodies in the country. So will the Detroit Board of Commerce, the Board of Trade of Akron, Ohio, and a number of similar organizations from other eastern cities.

"Then, too, many important manufacturing concerns have taken an interest in the campaign, and have already built houses for their employees, to improve their living conditions. Two of the greatest life insurance companies will be represented in the conference. They reason that it is not only good citizenship but good business policy for them to wipe out the unhealthy living conditions which bad housing breeds everywhere.

"The boards of health of all the more important eastern cities will of course be represented. New York is sending John J. Murphy, the tenement house commissioner, as well as several other officials. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston will attend the conference in person; Montreal will be represented by Dr. Joseph A. Beauroy, a remarkably energetic health department chief, and Cincinnati, which is now in the midst of an energetic campaign for the improvement of housing conditions will have a delegation of officials and citizens in attendance."

NEW WIRELESS RATES FOR CANADA

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—The new rates for wireless telegraphic messages of the Canadian coast, announced some time ago, will become effective tomorrow. A feature of the new regulations is the provision that all telegraph companies must accept messages for transmission by wireless.

New Yorkers are of the opinion

SOIL TREATMENT PAYS.

THE COST AND RESULTS AS FOUND IN ACTUAL PRACTICE ON LARGE FIELDS BY MR. MANN OF IROQUOIS.

What does it cost to maintain soil fertility under the Illinois system? And does it show a profit? As the principle is to restore to the soil the necessary elements removed, it is a simple mathematical process to ascertain the cost. On normal soils of Illinois are only elements necessary to replace are nitrogen and phosphorus. Nitrogen must be maintained by legume crops, and the best legume for the corn belt is clover. The clover crop should be left on the ground. If removed, not much if any nitrogen is added to the soil. If the crop is removed and fed to average live stock and the manure given average care and hauled back to the field, the loss is nearly one-half of the plant food and three-fourths of the organic matter. If a good crop of clover is left on the ground once every three or four years, only the seed being removed, it will supply sufficient nitrogen for large grain crops.

$1 PER ACRE PER YEAR FOR PHOSPHORUS

The other element, phosphorus, can be secured in no other way than to buy it. In its cheapest form it costs three to four cents a pound. There are 17 pounds in 100 bushels of corn. If 50 bushel crops are raised, about 30 cents an acre annually would restore the phosphorus. This is merely the cost of maintenance and the fertility would not increase. As this element usually limits the crop, more should be applied than is taken off. It is considered that 1,000 pounds of raw rock phosphate applied per acre once in four years is a reasonable expenditure, builds up the soil rapidly and profitably. This will supply phosphorus about twice as fast as it will be removed in large crops.

To answer questions of cost and profit, here are a few figures from several years of personal experience with field treated once in four years with 1,000 pounds of ground rock phosphate per acre, usually applied to clover and before plowing.

RESULTS OF MANN'S FIELD TESTS.

In 1906, 80 acres oats, 20 bushels increase, $3 profit per acre over full cost of treatment and 90 per cent of treatment remaining in the soil for future use.

In 1907, 40 acres of corn, 17 bushels increase, $3.50 profit per acre.

In 1904-08, 18 acres oats, increase in rotation of corn, corn, oats, clover, $36 per acre profit from the treatment in four years.

In 1907, 80 acres oats, increase 16 bushels per acre, and the grain weighed 9 pounds more per bushel.

In 1908, 80 acres clover, increase of 1 ton per acre.

In 1907, 80 acres corn, increased 17 bushels per acre.

In 1908, wheat field, increase of 15 bushels per acre, paying a profit of $12.50 above the treatment for four years.

These figures are not taken from exceptional cases, but are normal crops from normal conditions. Many of the yields have been low, but the results from treatment have been so satisfactory as to encourage the belief that the proper methods are being used to insure a permanent fertility.—Illinois Farmers' Institute.

THE CORN CONTEST.

THE FARMERS' STATE BANK & TRUST COMPANY MAKE AWARDS.

Much interest has been aroused in the corn contest which came to a close today at the office of the Farmers' State Bank & Trust Co. There were about a hundred entries and some very fine samples were shown. The judging was by Lieut Maxey of Curran, secretary of the State Corn Growers' Association and a number were present to see how the gentleman conducted his examination.

Each sample was subjected to the same test and there were many good ears shown and all indicated the great advance that has been made in the selection of seed corn during the past few years.

The winners were:

First, Frank O. Brown, Waverly; grade 88.5, prize $25.

Second, R. L. Stice of Jacksonville, grade 82, prize $15.

Third, Frank O. Brown, Waverly; grade 79.5, prize $9.

The first prize was won by white corn and the others by yellow.

The winners and grades last year were:

Frank O. Brown, Waverly, grade 84.5.

Geo. W. Lockhart, Literberry, grade 82.5.

Lloyd Lukeman, Chapin, grade 82.4.

The liberal prizes offered resulted in great interest in the contest.

OAK PARK DEFEATS EASTERN SCHOOL

NAVY TRIUMPHS OVER ARMY-6 TO 0

CHICAGO BOYS TAKE THE GAME FROM EVERETT 32 TO 14.

Boston Team's inability to Fathom Oak Park's Triple Pass Play and Chicago's Strong Offensive Work Decides Contest.

Boston, Nov. 30.—The West triumphed over the East in the principal intercollegiate football game of the season today, when the Oak Park High School of Chicago, defeated Everett High School, 32 to 14.

Strong offensive work combined with the inability of the Everett team to fathom a triple pass play, gave the Chicago school boys the game. The team time and again using the triple pass the Oak Park went around Everett's end for gains of from one to forty yards. The forward pass was used successfully by both teams.

Oak Park opened the game with a rush, scoring a touchdown after only a few minutes of play. Goelitz ran 45 yards across Everett's goal line after receiving a forward pass from Barrett the visitors' right half back. The triple pass play then gave Chicago forty yards which was followed shortly by another touchdown for Oak Park by Carolan.

Everett strengthened at the opening of the second quarter. Captain Brickley, a brother of the Harvard player, after making a 45-yard run scored Everett's first touchdown. It was the first time Oak Park's goal line has been crossed this year.

The Chicago boys ploughed great holes in Everett's line in the third period. Within a few minutes they planted the ball close to the goal line and Macomber was pushed over for a touchdown. Three touchdowns were made in the final period one by Everett and two by Oak Park. Sweetland scored for Everett and Barrett and Macomber made the visitors' touchdowns.

During the last few minutes of play Everett by three forward passes carried the ball within the shadow of the Chicago goal posts. But the Oak Park defense stiffened and the goal was not seriously endangered.

During the first two periods so many spectators rushed on the field that play was stopped while the mounted police drove the crowds back into the stands. Oak Park refused to play until the field was cleared.

BROWN'S TWO GOALS FROM PLACEMENT BRINGS VICTORY

Both Goals Come in Last Quarter After it Looked as if Struggle Would Result in Scoreless Tie—35,000 See Game.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—In one of the most stirring football games ever played by the two arms of the national service, the navy this afternoon, on Franklin Field, defeated the army by the score of 6 to 0. J. H. Brown, the tall guard, booted the navy to victory by two splendid goals from placement. Both goals came in the last period from the 23 and 37 yard lines after it began to look as if the fierce struggle would result in a scoreless tie. It was a wonderful triumph for the midshipmen. With a record for the season that did not compare as favorably with that of the army's and with the prevailing feeling that the army on its showing made during the year had the advantage, the midshipmen battled valiantly even during the moments when the tide of the struggle was going against them. They held off the army through grit and generalship, and when the opportunity came to score they had the "punch" to land the victory.

Immense Crowd Sees Contest.

While all credit is due the navy for its splendid success, the army was not disgraced in its defeat. At times the cadets outplayed the navy in all departments of the game and it was through no weakness on their part that they failed to score. Twice when the army had chances to score the navy stiffened its defense and held their rivals off. Outside the army boys there was scarcely one of the nearly 35,000 spectators who crowded the stands surrounding the gridiron that did not carry a pennant of the navy's blue and gold, or the army's black, gold and gray.

The florists in this and other cities seemed to have been relieved of their entire supply of chrysanthemums, the official football flowers, judging by the number of them in evidence. The cadets from West Point in their service coats stood out like a great gray rectangle against the background of black and assorted colors in the south stand. They carried no pennants or other colors, but the sections on the opposite side of the field, where the midshipmen were seated, were a teeming mass of gold and blue streamers. "Middies" Go Wild With Joy.

The midshipmen and cadets sang songs in a way that kept the crowd at top pitch. But at the close of the game the enthusiasm was all navy. The gray clad cadets sat quietly and watched their victorious brothers of the other branch of the service invade the gridiron in a perfect delirium of joy. Parading behind the famous marine band the "middles" cap-walked, waltzed and executed every imaginable dance step. Pennants were tossed over the cross bars of the goals as the victors rushed and danced across the field. Finally came the famous "rush to colors." While the midshipmen formed a great circle the two big blue and gold silk standards of the academy were placed in the center and a frantic rush was made toward them, accompanied by a tremendous waving of blue and gold pennants.

How the Scores Were Made.

The navy's opportunity to make the first goal from placement came through consistent line bucking and end running. Hobbs made a rather poor punt in the last period, the navy getting the ball on the West Point 45 yard line. McReavy for the navy made three yards and Leonard added two more on a sprint across the field to get around the army's right. Here the midshipmen were penalized 15 yards but it was more than made up on the next play by Brown, who on a fake kick formation carried the ball around the right wing of West Point on the army's 15 yard line. Reachs plunged through left tackle for four yards and the following play against the line failed. Gilchrist and Brown dropped back to the 23 yard line and with the former holding the pigskin, Brown kicked an easy goal from placement. Breaking the tie so late in the game augured well for the middies and they started to play the game safe, kicking the ball back every time it came into their territory any distance. The army realizing that there were but a few minutes left, began to play desperately and made a fizzle of a number of forward passes. The second goal from placement followed closely on the failure of an army man to recover a navy punt, the ball going to the midshipman on the army's 20 yard line. The West Point line withstood the attacks of the plunging navy backs and the midshipmen decided to have Brown try for another goal. With the ball again in front of the goal posts, Brown dropped back to the army's 37 yard line and repeated his trick, sending the score up to 6 points.

Navy Stops Army Rush.

In the third period the navy showed wonderful improvement in their play. Mostly on the defense in the first two quarters the middies began more aggressive tactics and showed great improvement in advancing the ball. Try as they did, however, they could not get close enough to the army goal to even try a field goal, or goal from placement.

Both teams resorted most of the time to straight plays. The forward pass tried frequently by West Point was a complete failure.

Although President Taft was too busy at Washington to witness the game back and took the pass, but before he could get off his kick the army's big forwards broke through and blocked the punt. There was a wild scramble to get the ball as it rolled toward the navy goal line and two or three players fell on it as it crossed the 15-yard mark. It was found that the army men had recovered the ball and then the cadets in the south stand shouted for the team to score. The army hit the line and it failed to budge and in the next scrummage there was a fumble and midshipman fell upon the ball on his own 12-yard line. Without taking a chance on a possible fumble the navy kicked out of danger to the army's 44-yard line and after that the West Point team never got sufficiently near the Annapolis goal line to even score on the middies.

WIT IN THE PULPIT

Preachers With a Sense of Humor or the Gift of Repartee.

A DUEL BETWEEN PUNSTERS.

The Exchange of Compliments That Spiced the Sermons of Rev. Mr. Walker and Rev. Mr. Read—Brother Moore's Grim Retort.

When the march of pulpit oratory and humor was less advanced than at present a number of pious parishioners resolved to compliment their beloved pastor with a horse. After a great deal of scraping together they accumulated funds sufficient to purchase a saddle, which was forthwith dispatched to the minister, with an intimation that the horse would be leader. Ladies of the church are invited to be present.

The Wednesday Class will meet with Miss Mary Price on Park street.

The Monday Conversation club will meet with Miss Mary Price on Park street.

The South Side circle will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Julian Hall on Diamond Court. Mrs. Leonard, leader. Subject, "An Hour With James Whitcomb Riley." Roll call. "Irish Stories."

The Graded Union of Sunday school teachers will meet Wednesday afternoon at Grace M. E. church, at 3:30 o'clock. The first of ten lessons on Teacher Training will be given.

Here the minister smote the pulpit in a manner that made the hearts of the congregation melt within them like wax, while he, stern man, continued his appeal to their pecuniary feelings so long, and repeated the fearful threat, "I ken what I'll do" so often that one frightened hearer said:

"And what will you do, sir?" "Why, man," said the minister coolly, "I'll just sell the saddle."

The Rev. Mr. Walker of Connecticut saw, his friend, the Rev. Mr. Read, sitting in one of the pews on a Sunday morning and, leaving the pulpit, went to Read and urged him to preach for him. Read begged off, as he was providentially detained in town over the Sabbath and had no "preparation" with him. But Walker was pressing, and at length his friend yielded to his importunity and entered the pulpit.

But he had no text, and after some reflection pitched upon Job 1, 7, "Then

Satan answered the Lord and said,

From going to and fro in the earth and from walking up and down in it."

From this passage he drew the doctrine and announced it boldly, that the devil was a great Walker. He rung the changes on the name of his friend till the people signified their notice by a general smile.

Walker took the pulpit in the afternoon and returned his friend's compliment by taking for his text Matthew xi, 7, "A reed shaken with the wind."

"The doctrine of the text," he said, "is the instability of Rends." On this theme he discovered till Read wished that he had never ventured his wit in the pulpit at the expense of his friend Walker.

In the south of New Jersey some years ago there traveled over some of the hardest counties a good, faithful, hard working brother named James Moore. He was devoted to the itinerancy and a true loyal Methodist, plain, pointed and sharp in all his preaching and exhortations. He had been laboring a year on one of his circuits, and before leaving for his new field, he gave his people his farewell sermon. At the close he said:

"My dear brethren, this is my last address to you. I am going from you, and you may never hear the voice of James Moore again."

"Amen!" came loudly from the seat before him.

He looked at the man with a little surprise; but, thinking it was a mistake, went on. "My days on earth will soon be numbered. I am an old man and you may not only never hear the voice of James Moore, but never see his face again."

"Amen!" was shouted from the same seat, more vigorously than before.

There was no mistaking the design now.

The preacher looked at the man.

He knew him to be a hard, grinding man, stingy and merciless to the poor.

He continued with his address: "May the Lord bless all those of you who have done your duty, who have honored him with your substance, who have been kind to the poor, and," pausing and looking the intruder straight in the eye and pointing to him with his finger, "may his curse rest on those who have cheated the Lord and ground the poor under their heels! Say amen to that, brother!"

He was not interrupted again.

It was the Rev. Rowland Hill's habit to ride to church in an old family carriage, a practice too aristocratic, in the judgment of one of his flock, who determined to rebuke it. It was customary in his chapel for notes to be sent to the pulpit, requesting prayers for various objects, and one Sabbath Hill was proceeding with the reading of these requests as usual when he found himself in the midst of one to the following purport:

"Prayers are requested for the Rev. Mr. Hill, that he may be more humble and, like his divine Master, who instead of riding in a carriage, was content to be borne on an ass."

Having read the notice, he lifted the spectacles to his forehead and, looking around the house, observed that it was quite true he had been guilty of the fault alleged, but if the writer would step around to the vestry door after service, saddled and bridled, he would have no objection to ride home, after his Master's example, on the back of an ass.—George Bancroft Griffith in New York Tribune.
